Dr. J. Lederberg Department of Genetics University of Wisconsin Wadison 6. Wisconsin

Gentlemen':

Graduate teaching and research assistantships will be available in the Department of Bacteriology, University of California at Davis, for the academic year 1953-54. These pay a stipend of $1320 for the 10-month half-time appointment, with some possibility of full-time work over the summer months for a total of about $1900. Some provision may be made to cover travel expenses to California.

Assistants are expected to work toward the M.A. or Ph.D. degree in general microbiology. Information regarding these degrees and applications for admission may be obtained from the Graduate School, University of California, Berkeley 4, California.

Interested students are invited to enter into correspondence with us regarding assistantships and graduate study. Assistantship application forms, which can be obtained from the undersigned, must be returned with supporting credentials not later than March 1, 1953.

Sincerely yours,

Mortimer P. Starr Graduate Adviser in
